The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) does not discriminate against any individual or group because of race, religion, age, national origin, color, height, weight, marital status, genetic information, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, political beliefs or disability.

SERVICES OVERVIEW

When an older adult has challenges living at home safely and independently, it is most often a family member or a friend who steps in to help provide care.

These informal caregivers help with daily activities like cooking, cleaning, bathing and paying bills.

Michigan is home to more than 1 million people who do this every day.

When an older adult lacks an informal caregiver, many people often think that a nursing home is the only option for them to live safely as they age.

It is important for every Michigan resident to know that there is a statewide aging network of more than 1,000 providers that offer a wide array of free or low-cost services that can help older adults live safely and independently at home.

TYPES OF SERVICES

Services provided through Michigan's aging network can help older adults live at home longer. For many, these services can provide a community-based alternative to a nursing home and they complement the care provided by informal caregivers, like family or friends.

Last year, Michigan's aging network served more than 120,000 Michigan residents with more than 40 different types of services.

The services provided may include, but are not limited to: Meals on Wheels, Personal Care, Adult Day Services, Legal Assistance, Medication Management and Caregiver Training, among many others.

Types of Services
Meals on Wheels/Home-delivered Meals	Delivers nutritious meals to homebound seniors.
Congregate Meals	Provides nutritious meals/social opportunities in community settings.
Case Coordination and Support	Evaluation, planning and coordination of care and services for older adults.
Care Management	Evaluation, planning and coordination of care and services for older adults with higher/complex care needs.
Respite Care	Provides temporary care for an older adult, providing support to informal caregivers.
Homemaker	Provides assistance in the home for activities like meal preparation, light housekeeping and shopping.
Adult Day Services	Provides temporary care in an institutional setting for an older adult, providing support and respite care to informal caregivers.
Personal Care	Provides assistance in the home for activities of daily living, like bathing, dressing and eating.

FINDING SERVICES

Michigan's aging network is a partnership between the state of Michigan (Aging & Adult Services Agency within the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS)), 16 regional area agencies on aging (AAA), and more than 1,000 local providers offering a wide range of services.

Most services are provided to Michigan residents by local providers, however the first place to call when you have questions about services is your regional AAA.

AAAs can help you understand your options and help you choose from a wide-array of services that will meet your needs.

AAAs are nonprofit agencies designated by federal and state law to be "one-stop shops" for information and referrals to all local aging services, both public and private.

To receive the contact information for your regional AAA, call the U.S. Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116.

You can also find a complete listing of AAAs in Michigan on pages 5-7.

There may also be other helpful local, statewide and national resources that could help depending on your situation. See pages 6-12 for more information.

Finally, senior centers also provide great programs and activities for older adults. Contact the Michigan Association of Senior Centers at 248-505-8228 or visit miseniorcenter.org to find a senior center near you.

COUNTY OFFICES, COMMISSIONS AND COUNCILS ON AGING

Most Michigan counties have senior services millages that are administered by local county offices, commissions and councils on aging.

These local county offices, commissions and councils on aging work formally and informally with AAAs and are great resources to contact as well to learn more about what locally-funded services may be available to you.

If you don't have a local county office, commission or council on aging, you can contact your local Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) office, which may be able to help depending on your situation.

See page 8-9 for a listing of organizations by county you may want to contact in addition to your regional AAA.
